

Fall 2026 Mini Plush Lops

PLEASE READ!

Babies are ready to go home Friday October 30th

Once you have picked your bunny out, we will discuss a day and time for pick up or a ship date.

All the bunnies below are expected to be between 3 to 4.5 pounds full grown.

- Bunnies are blank slates. They are as sweet as you make them, meaning any of these bunnies will make wonderful pets if you're willing to spend quality time with them. I cannot spend quality time with each one to determine their individual personalities. Please do not ask what a particular bunny's personality is like. I would not be able to give you a fair assessment. The most hyper bunny today could be the calmest tomorrow! I don't think you'll have a solid grasp on your bunny's personality until they are home with you and have adjusted for a few weeks.
- Baby mini plush lops have ruffled, dull, more textured and longer fur. Their adult coats are beautiful, dense and velvety! They will likely be molting and growing in their adult coat when you come for pick up.
- It is difficult to sex a rabbit at such an early age! I believe the below genders to be correct, but accidents can happen.

- Prices are determined by eye color, confirmation, fur color and fur quality.

Scale for fur quality and confirmation being: poor, fair, good, very good and excellent.

- It's normal for baby mini plush lops to not be "loppy" yet. As they grow their crown widens and their ears begin to fall. Several have "airplane" ears at the moment and that's totally normal.
- Please do not request additional photos.
- If you're planning to ship your bunny, now is the time to finalize shipping plans!
- Please text me with the bunny you would like to reserve as soon as possible!
- Please read through the sales agreement on www.elliesrabbitry.com for information on warranty.

Thanks again for getting a bunny from Ellie's Rabbitry!

1. Vienna Marked, Blue Eyed Black Torte Buck

$475

Eye Color: Blue

Confirmation: Very Good

Fur Quality: Excellent

Note: The gray color on his sides will end up being the same copper color on his back once his adult fur comes in. His ears will eventually completely flop, too!

3. Split Face Japanese Harlequin Buck

$425

Eye Color: Brown

Confirmation: Good

Fur Quality: Very Good

Note: This guy looks like two different bunnies on each side! Japanese harlequin refers to harlequins that are predominantly black instead of copper like a traditional harlequin. He is considered a split face because the copper and black seems in the middle of his face. He's definitely a unique bunny!

Buck #3

4. Ruby Eyed White Doe

$250

Eye Color: Ruby

Confirmation: Good

Fur Quality: Very Good

Note: This little doe has a beautiful head shape for a mini plush lop and is on the petite side. She will likely only be a 3-pound rabbit. Just like her mom, she is on the tiny side and so sweet! Less expensive just because of her coloring – not as popular as other colors listed.

5. Heavy Vienna Marked, Blue Eyed Harlequin Doe

$425

Eye Color: Blue

Confirmation: Fair

Fur Quality: Good

Note: This is the flashiest baby of the group – her coloring is so fun with her offset blaze and blue eyes. It was hard not to keep her!

Doe #5

6. Vienna Marked, Blue Eyed, Blue Fawn Harlequin Buck with Star

$450

Eye Color: Brown

Confirmation: Good

Fur Quality: Very Good

Note: This guy looks like two different bunnies on each side! Japanese harlequin refers to harlequins that are predominantly black instead of copper like a traditional harlequin. He is considered a split face because the copper and black seems in the middle of his face. He's definitely a unique bunny!

Buck #6

7. Black Torte Buck

$400

Eye Color: Brown

Confirmation: Fair

Fur Quality: Fair

Note: This little doe might not be the perfect mini plush lop, but she's the cutest one of this batch in my opinion! She's on the small side. Her white sides will actually end up being the same copper color on her back once her adult fur comes in.

Buck #7

8. Viena Marked, Blue Eyed Harlequin Buck with Star

$475

Eye Color: Blue

Confirmation: Excellent

Fur Quality: Excellent

Note: Out of this batch, this is the best all around baby of the bunch. Confirmation and fur quality are top notch, combined with his coloring makes him the winner! If I didn't already have two many bucks, he'd be staying!

Buck #8

9. Black and Copper Harlequin Doe

$425

Eye Color: Brown

Confirmation: Good

Fur Quality: Very Good

Note: I love the half mustache on this doe. She's petite and pretty!
